About Me

I'm passionate about building & designing delightful user flows and dressing them in beautiful layouts. The perfect design doesn't involve only beautiful aesthetics, the perfect design requires a deep understanding of human behavior and psychology. As an outcome of having this understanding, we are able to shape a great product that is made for humans.

Work Experience

Raisin GmbH ➜ 2014 - Present

Currently, at Raisin, we build a digital product that helps people grow their wealth. I am the product designer responsible for the public website, including the registration and the product ordering flows. Working closely with stakeholders, product owners, copywriters and developers to deliver pixel perfect, accessable and "better, never best" user experience. I also support and unlock value for the marketing team by helping them to validate hypotheses by creating experiments and A/B tests.

Freelancer ➜ 2004 - 2014

Before that, I owned and managed an agency for about 10 years. My everyday job was creating websites, crafting logos and illustrations, and developing WordPress themes for my clients. Alongside that, I was Envato author as well.

ORCA Studio ➜ 2002 - 2004

I started designing and developing websites back in the year 2002 in a small family agency in a team of 4 people, including the founders.
